Bannerman Selected For Harvard Course

Robert L. Bannerman, Deputy Director of Security Central Intelligence Agency, has been selected as one of 150 participants in the 39th session of the Advanced Management Program at the Harvard Business School. Dean Stanley F. Steele announced today. This session of the Program begins on February 19 and ends on May 19. Mr. Bannerman lives at 225 Dogwood Lane, McLean.

The Advanced Management Program, one of the oldest senior management development courses conducted by a university, has been in continuous operation since its beginning in 1943. There are no specific educational prerequisites for admission. All participants are nominated and sponsored by their companies and have been selected by the Admissions Board of the AMP on the basis of demonstrated ability, leadership qualities, and adaptability in their careers. The 12-week course is particularly designed for men between 36 and 50 years of age who are now in top management positions or who are likely to be there in the near future. The Program offers a concentrated course of study in six major areas of prime interest to today's top management, and uses the case method of instruction.
